There were about one hundred persons in the mines, and numbers arriving daily when Mr. Brittan left. Provisions were tolerably plenty, though at enormous rates -flour selling at $25 per hundred. The gold dust is used in the mines as currency, Pike's Penk. He heard of gold being found at $1 per pennyweight.

Mr. Brittan met from 700 to 1,000 emigrants en route for the mines. He thinks that but few of them will be able to reach the mines this fall, as probably before this there are heavy snows in the mountains .-It is the height of folly, therefore, for other companies to start this fall. If those already on the route do not meet with great hardships, they will be fortunate.

At the time Mr. Brittan left the mines there were no houses erected, the miners all living in tents. The health of the miners had been sood.

The implements in use in the mines are almost without exception only shovels, picks and pans. It was the general opinion of the For further particulars address Trustees or Teacher, Roanoke, Mo.

Chery Creek is a tributary of the South Platte. It is about 35 or 40 miles in length, is a dry creek, with a sandy bottom, from 4 to 6 rods wide, and has but little water in it. The main gold diggings are on the South Platte, about 4 miles west of the mouth of Cherry Creek, and about 180 miles a little east by south from Fort Laramie. The gold is found on the "bench" or bottom. Mr. Brittan's specimens were dug about eighty rods from the river. The South Platte has been prospected upon both sides, for some thirty miles, and gold found uniformly, Water is not very abundant

From Thompson's Bank Note Reporter The decadence of the Buchanan administration should be attributed more to delinquencies of business, and less to politica delinquents.

Politicians fill all the departments of the government. Politics is their element .-They discuss only political questions, and political letters always have precedence.

The administration is eminent in its neglect of business. The President is either not aware of this fact, or he is destitute of that spirit which caused one of his predecessors occasionally to say-" BY THE E-TERNAL." To illustrate. Two gentlement go to Washington, one on on a political, the other on a business mission. The politician is cordially received; and, business being deferred, is promptly attended to. His talk about the Roman firmness of the President and the Cabinet-the wisdom of the Kansas policy, &c. &c. &c., is all swallowed with due deliberation; and he must dine and wine, and be escorted to the departments.

The business gentleman, after pacing the marble halls, or sitting in the reception room, three, five, or ten days, writes to his associates or creditors, in spirit, as follows: strove to get an interview with the department. I will continue striving a few days' longer, and if I do not succeed I will leave collect, who, I am told, shares the commission with some one in the department. Let
